The cold weather does not support working out and with all the festivities, you gorge down on almost anything that you can put your hands on. However, you don&rsquo;t have to frown at the packed fats. With a 30 day plan, you can be able to get back in shape in no time. To help you with that, here is a simple 30 day workout plan that could get your waistline back in shape without much fuss. </iframe></figure><figure class="op-interactive"><iframe class="no-margin">Day 1-10 Burn!</iframe></figure><figure class="op-interactive"><iframe class="no-margin">The first part of your regimen is going to be losing the weight you gained over the holiday. Usually, you will be tempted to have crazy work out hours, intensity packed sessions and the whole nine yards. The truth of the matter is, that is not what you need. It is imperative to go slow on the workouts but be aggressive on your calorie intake. This is a safer and more productive approach because it allows your body, gut, and other organs to reboot and recover. The workouts can last for about 20-60 minutes with 10 minutes of warm up. </iframe></figure><figure class="op-interactive"><iframe class="no-margin">Day 11-20 Build</iframe></figure><figure class="op-interactive"><iframe class="no-margin">Over the next 10 days, you should continue with the morning fasted fat burning session. However, in this instance, while you will keep your one hour routine, you also need to add in an extra afternoon workout. In the added session you need to incorporate weighted exercises that include calisthenics and body weight exercise. You can have push-ups, jumping jacks as the calisthenics, squats, and lunges. The important thing is, after every bodyweight exercise, you should have a calisthenics in between. It allows rest while working on the cardio.
